TWO CENTS

RADICALS, CONVICTED IN COURT, MAY BE DEPORTED

Two Aliens Found Guilty in Local Court, of Acts of Sedition

FEDERAL AUTHORITIES TO ACT

In criminal court at Washington on Thursday, Judge J. A. McIlvaine in passing sentence on Harry Chesniuk, alias Gregory Chesnikoff of Donora, and John Sergeyerho, of Slovan, who had just been convicted by a jury of sedition, said: "I am going to impose a light sentence so you can go back to Russia and help build up in that country the kind of a government you have been advocating here. I am going to send you over there to help Lenin and Tritzky, for they seem to need you."

The two defendants had been on trial all day on indictments brought under a sedition act passed by the last legislature. The case went to the jury late in the afternoon, which returned in about five minutes with a verdict of guilty.

When the men were called before Judge McIlvaine he told them this was a government of law and liberty and that it was a heinous crime to advocate anarchy. He was inclined, he said, to believe that the defendants had been imposed on by resigning radicals until they had become seared with the world, with God and with the Government under which they had been living and which was protecting them.

For this reason he had decided to impose a light sentence, and according to the costs, a fine of one dollar and imprisonment in the workhouse for one year. He explained that the sentence would be lifted if the government would deport them. It is understood that this will be done shortly and that the men will serve out only a small part of the sentence before the federal authorities will take action looking to their return to their native land. Representatives of the department of justice were present in court yesterday and will certify the sentence to the authorities at Washington and further action in the case will be taken there.

The principal witness for the State was Mike Yacovitch, a native American but of Russian parentage. He was a former member of the State Police and later worked in this locality in the secret service, where he obtained a great deal of information concerning the objects and aims of the Red Societies among the Russian workers.

BIRTHDAY PARTY HELD LAST EVENING

A birthday party was held last evening at the home of Miss Mary Syes, 1111 McKean avenue, in honor of her birthday anniversary. American flags were used as decorations making a very effective and beautiful setting. The evening was spent in games, after which a delicious lunch was served. About thirty-five guests were present.

TALKS TO STUDENTS ON SOCIAL SERVICE

The third of the scheduled talks to the pupils of the Charleroi high school on "Choosing a Life's Work," occurred at the regular chapel exercises, this morning, when Rev. John R. Burson, pastor of Washington Avenue Presbyterian Church, spoke on the subject, "Social Service." Rev. Mr. Burson's talk was unusually interesting, and was universally enjoyed. He held up the work of the Hull House, in Chicago, which under the management of Jane Adams and Miss Starr, has become recognized the world over as the acme of perfection in work of this nature, as the most fitting object lesson he might supply. Rev. Mr. Burson, while a student at the Moody Institute, in Chicago, performed much service which brought him into close connection with Hull House and its management, and the many stories he told of actual happenings in the Stockyards districts were a revelation to his listeners. The speaker couched his remarks in a most happy vein, and all he had to say was attentively listened to and much enjoyed by all.

SUGAR IS CHEAP SO IS THE CANDIES

The Sugar Bowl—the leading confectionery of our town—takes great pleasure to announce that thanks to the low price of sugar, they will reduce the price of their Home Made Candies and Taffies at 20 per cent.

You must always remember that our sweets are always fresh and delicious and that we are here to serve you and assist you to select your candies, whether you want plain, in fancy or loose. We always have in stock plenty of Reymers, Appollo, Johnsons and Brooks.

The candies are cheap. Come P. S.—Did you see our beautiful baskets, imported from China? 136-12

Preparing to Push An Active Red Cross Campaign

Posters for the coming campaign and school teachers, and they will be asked to make mention of the movement at every service until the campaign has come to an end.

As Chairman Berryman points out, all it needs is a heart and a dollar to become a member. If you are not solicited, send in or bring your dollar to headquarters, and receive proper credit. There is need for the Red Cross right now in Charleroi, but its funds are not available the local organization will be powerless to act. Charleroi today is in the midst of an epidemic, which could have been greatly minimized had the local Red Cross Chapter been properly equipped to assist. Chairman Berryman and Minnie E. Richardson, 524 McKean avenue, where due credit will be given.

The merits of the campaign will be called to the attention of pastors

SHOOTING AFFRAY EARLY THIS MORNING

Charles Kenney, colored, is in the Charleroi-Monessen hospital, suffering from a gunshot wound in the face, while the police are looking for Charles Haines, who did the shooting. The affray took place on Fallowfield avenue, near Third street about 1:30 this morning, following a colored masquerade dance in the Night auditorium.

According to one story, Haines was walking home with Kenney's wife, when the latter objected, and both men pulled guns. Haines was the quickest, and shot Kenney in the cheek, inflicting a flesh wound. Following the shooting Haines made his get-away, while Kenney was taken to the hospital. It is said the latter had been drinking.

VIKING CLUB TO HOLD THANKSGIVING DANCE

The Viking Club is making unusual preparations for its annual Thanksgiving dance which will be held in Night's auditorium, Friday evening, November 26. Warring's Famous Saxophone Orchestra from Tyrone has been engaged for the occasion, which of itself is a guarantee of the character of the reception. Invitations for the event will be issued within a few days. F. H. Delvaux and Lynn Lowstuter are chairmen of committees looking after the necessary arrangements.

LOSERS BANQUET THE WINNING SIDE

The losers gave a banquet to the winners in a Sunday School Class contest, Thursday evening, in the Sunday school room of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church. In the Richard Hill class, whose present teacher is Mrs. Ellis Allman, a contest for new members has been carried on since vacation time, the sides being captained by the Misses Bethel Bowman and Eva Clutter. In the contest Miss Bowman's side was victorious and the banquet last evening was an enjoyable affair.

The tables made a pretty appearance, with Mr. Hill's chair at the head of the class. The losers gave a chicken dinner with all its trimmings, and the favors at each plate bespoke the Thanksgiving spirit. At the close of the banquet a literary and musical program was carried out. Address were made by Mrs. Allman, Mrs. Clifford Robertson, and Rev. Burson. Musical numbers were contributed by Miss Clutter, accompanied by Miss Bowman. Miss Della Swan, the class secretary, gave the lass report, which was most encouraging. The evening closed with a social hour of good fellowship and plans were formulated for future class activities.

Samuel Bartle.

Samuel Bartle, for many years a resident of Charleroi, died at his home, 810 Crest avenue, this morning at 2 o'clock, aged 79 years. He was born in England, October 12, 1841. Funeral services will be held from the home of his sister, Mrs. Mary Gelder, 810 Crest avenue, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, interment in Monongahela cemetery.

Questions.

1. How can persons be made immune to diphtheria for life?
2. How long does the protection which a dose of antitoxin gives, last?
3. How can persons be made permanently immune to diphtheria for life?

THE LEAK

Some fifty years ago a prominent Pennsylvanian remarked that "There would be no more great inventions, because there was nothing left to invent." Today his grandson operates an aeroplane.

Two men sat together in a railway train. The tall, thin one was a Manufacturer, who had made his way, the stout one with heavy eyeglasses was a Physician.

As the train stopped they saw on the house across the way a state quarantine sign, "Diphtheria." "That," said the Manufacturer, "is a disease which has cost me thousands of dollars, through loss of time of my employees."

"That," said the Physician, "is a disease which will not bother your successors in business."

"Nonsense! Antitoxin will cure if given early and will prevent, if given to one who has been exposed, but diphtheria cannot be completely stamped out."

"Not only can, but will," asserted the doctor; "just as small pox, the one time scourge of the world, has been made negligible by vaccination, as Typhoid is no longer a danger factor to the Army, so diphtheria will be eliminated by 'Toxin-antitoxin.'"

"And what is Toxin-antitoxin, and how is it different from antitoxin in general use?"

"Antitoxin," said the physician, "will cure diphtheria if given in sufficient doses—in time; lesser doses of antitoxin will prevent diphtheria in those who have been exposed to the disease, but the protection does not last more than a few weeks."

"A second attack of diphtheria is infrequent because the 'toxins' or poisons of the disease circulate the blood to form protective substances which remain in the body."

"Toxin-antitoxin" is a combination of the actual diphtheritic poison with sufficient of the antidote or antitoxin to prevent harmful effect. The patient is inoculated as it were with the poison of the disease and its antidote, but the 'Toxin' influences the blood to form defensive agents just as in actual diphtheria."

"I see," said the Manufacturer; "you sort of fool the blood."

"Well, you might call it that."

"Then your idea is to give Toxin-antitoxin to everybody?"

"Not every person, for all are not susceptible to diphtheria."

"How can you separate them?"

"Easily—The Shick Test—babies, under six months are usually immune, above that—The Shick Test."

"Never heard of it," said the Manufacturer.

"Perhaps not, you laughed because I never heard of 'Lena.' Every man to his trade, you know; 'The Shick Test' is employed to determine whether or not the individual can catch diphtheria. It consists of the injection between the layers of the skin of the forearm, of a specially prepared minute dose of diphtheria toxin; if within two or three days, a characteristic redness and swelling of the arm at the point of injection is noticed, this shows that the individual can catch diphtheria; if there be no such appearance the person cannot catch it."

"Good so far as you go," said the Manufacturer; "but how are you going to make practical application of it?"

"You employ young people in your factory?"

"Lots of them; didn't I say I'd been hard hit by diphtheria?"

"Why not advise it for your employees? After the 'Shick Test' tells them they are subject to diphtheria, they will be anxious to take toxin-antitoxin to render them immune for life."

"But that will be only one factory."

"I am telling you, other doctors are telling other people, the State Department of Health is advising the procedure for the protection of human life."

"How about school children?"

"Parents owe it to their children to save them from diphtheria, all children who show susceptibility should be protected by the administration of Toxin-antitoxin."

"Is there danger in the administration?"

"No more than in giving diphtheria antitoxin, and its universal success needs no comment."

"From that time on, the physician," said the manufacturer, "is the hero."

Last year diphtheria cost Pennsylvania $1,000,000, the year before $770,000, and the year before that $200,000. This is a LEAK which can be stopped.

"Toxin-antitoxin" when indicated by the "Shick Test" is the answer. Needless to say, the test and "Toxin-antitoxin" should be administered only by a physician.

Furs and Climates.

The furs of animals whose habitat is in warmer countries is not so durable, does not form as good leather and is less supple than the furs from the animals living in colder climates.

Democratic National Convention Rule.

The two-thirds rule was established by the Democratic national convention in Baltimore in 1832 that nominated Andrew Jackson for a second term. His running mate was Martin Van Buren of New York. The rule has been famous and inflexible ever since, though efforts have been made to destroy it. Republicans operate under a majority rule. In the Baltimore convention Jackson was nominated on the ninth ballot. His running mate four years before had been John C. Calhoun of South Carolina.

Spines of Porcupine.

The spines of a porcupine, in the usual position, lie nearly flat, with their points directed backward, but when the animal is excited they are capable of being raised. The quills are loosely inserted in the skin and may, on being violently shaken, become detached, a circumstance which probably gave rise to the purely fabulous statement that the animal possesses the power of actually ejecting its quills like arrows or darts at an enemy.

Asbestos.

The earliest use of asbestos was for spinning and weaving, to make incombustible thread and yarn, rope and cloth, and this has continued to be the most important use of asbestos ever since the days of the Greeks and Romans. Only the best grades can be used for this purpose, according to the United States geological survey, department of the interior. Thread can now be spun so fine that it will run about 32,000 feet to the pound.

It Has a Good Name.

In the yellow rollers' tongue, which John Burroughs has poetically styled "fawn lily," there is a twofold appropriateness of name, says the American Forestry Magazine of Washington, for the erect leaves have well been likened to the ears of a startled deer, while the mottled colors, with a distinct fawn color more or less in evidence on the outside of the miniature yellow lines, easily suggest the name.

Honesty Prevalent in China.

Honesty is a prevailing virtue among most Chinamen. Some of them in their native towns and cities leave their places of business unguarded while they go off for an hour or more. Should customers arrive in the meantime they find the prices of goods plainly marked, select what they want and leave the money for them.

Age of the World.

John Von Muller, a historian who spent much time in research work on the age of the world, arrived at a conclusion which in 1920 would make the world 7,642 years old. His figures are generally accepted, because they are based on Biblical references and facts.

Earthquakes.

The origin of earthquakes has been traced to two principal causes, the first of which is tectonic, and the second volcanic. The former refers to movements in the earth's crust, known as faults, possibly caused by the shrinking of the interior of the earth by reason of cooling.

Indian Textile Workers.

In North America alone there are four distinct types of spinning to be found and some half a dozen types of weaving in use by the Indian textile workers. Also they have most interesting devices for warping, for shredding, for pattern-making, and, in addition, countless secrets for dyeing.

Proper Pride Necessary.

Pride, like laudanum and other poisonous medicines, is beneficial in small, though injurious in large quantities. No man who is not pleased with himself, even in a personal sense, can please others.—Frederick Saunders.

Philippine Forests.

The forests of the Philippines afford the greatest variety of wood in the world. Some of the hard woods are unexcelled for beauty and durability and a big trade is developing in exporting the timber to the United States.

Awful Possibility.

Her mother insisting that she should finish what she had on her plate, little Marjory exclaimed, "If you make me eat another bite, mamma, I shall be humped back in my stomach like a grampkin."—Boston Transcript.

It had been raining all day, and finally little Nettie asked: "Mamma, when God gets all the juice squeezed out of a cloud what does he do with it?"

CAUGHT BY JUICY BIG WORDS

"Simul-ta-neously" Had More Effect on Yacht Waiter Than Fat Tip Would Have.

The caterer who fed the reporters three times a day on the destroyer Goldsborough at the cup races had a staff of negro waiters, one of whom had a weakness for words, strange words, remarks the New York Evening Sun. Reporters wanted to seek him out and win his favor by bringing him "whoppers."

"Unctuous" must be that waiter's name. For unctuous he was as he brought the breakfast milk—"cream," he called it optimistically.

"You kin have all de cream, yo wants, 'guten,'" he said, and some mistook the quality of his soul and offered him money. Naturally he took it. And he looked a thunderous thanks that called the attention of all divers and compelled them likewise to offer him money.

But the waiting soul of Unctuous really flowered only when he heard a gigantic word. Specially one reporter came in and standing ceremoniously with a hand on the back of his chair before sitting down looked straight at Unctuous and as one intoning a formal greeting slowly gave vent to the single word, "simultaneously."

"Simul-ta-neously," repeated Unctuous, catching it perfectly and separating each syllable with reversed pomp. "Simul-ta-neously," he kept murmuring as he bustled exclusively about the man who had brought him the new word gem.

STRANGE WINDS OF CHANCE

French Artist and English Novelist Mixed Up in Romance of the Marquesan Islands.

In one of the New York art galleries there is now on view a primitively-fashioned door decorated with the figure of a Tahitian belle. This door has been brought from the far-away lands of the southern Pacific.

And "thereby hangs a tale"—a tale that leads to one of the far Marquesan islands where Paul Gauguin "readily painted his very life's blood into a series of astonishing canvases, practically living on narcotics at the end because he felt that he must, at any cost, give his message to the world." W. Somerset Maugham, in his endless search for the endless succession of plots for his novels and plays, dug up the story of Paul Gauguin's trail foot from Paris to Tahiti, and even carried off a door from his cabin. Thus was written "The Moon and Six Pence."

Gauguin died in his adopted home, his passing noted only by a few artists. Then the playwright's visit to the island, then the book—and immediately there is a general gathering of artists, writers, photographers, etc., on their way to Tahiti.

Mr. Arens has made an article of unusual interest in tracing the peculiar course of this rather extraordinary literary volume.—Harper's Bazar.

Two Different Views.

"Well," cried Mrs. Humpwick, "our son is engaged to be married. We will write to the dear lad and congratulate him."

Mr. Humpwick agreed the date not do otherwise, and his wife picked up her pen.

"My darling boy," read the son "what glorious news! Your father and I rejoice in your happiness. It has long been our greatest wish that you should marry some good woman. A good woman is heaven's most precious gift to man. She brings out all the best in him and helps him to suppress all that is evil."

Then there was a postscript in a different handwriting:

"Your mother has gone for a stamp. Keep single, you young noodle."

Calling Back Birds.

In the devastated areas of Belgium and Northern France the birds as well as the human inhabitants lost their homes. Their nests and nesting places were destroyed.

Now they have been invited back; for the matter is not merely one of sentiment, inasmuch as the birds are needed to eat the bugs that devour the farmer's crops.

With this object in view, areas of woodland are being set aside and made as attractive as possible to feathered creatures. It is expected that by such means colonies of birds will soon be established, and that, with proper protection, they will multiply and become as numerous as ever before long.

When telephone girls in California find their wires "shorted," a bug may be on or in the wire, for California has a wood-boring beetle that goes through wood and also through alloyed substance considerably harder than lead. The beetle has put hundreds of telephones out of commission by boring holes in the cables that carry the wires. Water enters the cables, making wire connections useless until the bored places are found and repaired. The problem of control of this wood-boring beetle is still unsolved, according to the bureau of entomology of the United States department of agriculture and it will be difficult to find a practicable way.

Nursing an Investment.

"You very seldom go away from home."

"No. The rent has been raised again, and we're trying to come as near getting our money's worth as possible."

TONSILITIS

Sick Tonsils threaten the Entire System

The importance of the warning given by a raw or rusty feeling in the throat is evident from the attention modern doctors are paying to the tonsils. The tonsils are spongy growths that lodge disease germs readily—diphtheria, scarlet fever, etc. They need watching.

At the first sign of soreness back in the region of the tonsils, get a jar of Krew-Pina and apply nightly to the throat—rub it in well and put a little in the nostrils. When in bed, draw up the bed clothes so that they form a funnel between throat and nostrils, and inhale the medicinal vapors.

Krew-Pina is the celebrated family ointment composed entirely of simple home remedies such as Oil of Pine and other volatile oils from a formula that makes these harmless ingredients powerful to relieve and heal. Invaluable as a preventative and in cases of cold, bronchitis, cough and whooping cough, croup, stiffness, lame back, bruises and stone bruises, burns, cuts, etc. 30c and 60c jars with printed directions for using—at your druggist's.

COAL PRICES.

Official reports show that there have been mined about twenty million more tons of coal this year than for the same time last year, hence the high prices hardly seem based on a shortage of supply. The increased pay to the miners has been very small when spread over the entire production, so that the only way to account for the high price is profiteering somewhere along the line.

When one attempts to locate the trouble each one points to the other with the statement, "He did it." The truth probably is that each has a small part in it. There are too many hands between the producer and the consumer.

The bald notice from Senators Edge and Calder that the coal men must find a way to "clean house" or look for drastic action by the government, has the right ring. We do not favor government control of private industry, as a rule, but practices which affect an article so vital to the welfare of all our people as the coal supply must be such as will not tend to any artificial inflation of prices.

A distributed pamphlet entitled "Know and Help Your Schools," which gives the results of a nationwide survey directed by the "National Committee for Chamber of Commerce Co-operation With the Public Schools," calls attention to a commendable movement to interest the business men of the country in the practical needs and details of the public education, such as the salaries, training and experience of teachers. Chambers of commerce were asked to co-operate with school superintendents and school boards in analyzing the present school situation and making better school plans for the future. Though the business men of some of the larger cities, including Philadelphia, have taken no notice of the proposition, the response in general has been very gratifying and much good is expected to be accomplished.

Good Whistler Story.

At the recent meeting of the Royal Society of British Artists, Sir Aston Webb told a story about Whistler when president of the society, which is worth recording. The place of honor at one of the society's exhibitions had been left empty by the hanging committee for the president's contribution. The day reserved for the press was fast approaching, and at last dawned, and still no picture had arrived from the president. A telegram was sent Whistler: "Press arriving, no picture," and the reply came: "The press we have always with us. Be of good cheer."

WHALE BIT OFF TOO MUCH

Attempt to Make a Meal of Pacific Cable Proved End of Sportive Creature.

The direct descendant of the whale that swam down the Pacific coast of Mexico, off Mexico, He was hungry—hungry for a new sensation. All the thrills in that neck of the ocean were on land, where the Mexicans were conquering Mexico. He shot a column of water through his nose into the air. What with the submarines out of the sea, life had lost all zest for a whale. The submarine idea flashed through his brain and he decided to try it. He would dive below and scare the saucer and octopus into a fit. Down he went.

Now, the AR-American Cable company, which took over the Mexican Telegraph company, has some valuable rubber-wound copper wires lying on the bottom of the ocean off Mexican headlands. They met the gaze of our hero.

He seized the long thing in his mouth. It stuck. History has never recorded any whale who ever attempted to eat a Pacific cable and got away with it. Our hero was no exception. He struggled, and finally wound himself up in several thousand dollars' worth of interrupted messages. When the cable repair ships have to and grappled for the cable to find out what had interrupted communications between Vera Cruz and Yabotano, Chile, they dragged to the surface a very dead whale, wound up in several hundred feet of hopelessly complicated cable.

Chief Engineer James Mowat, who went ashore, and lives in New York, says this is the first whale he ever heard of that tried to eat a cable. And other members of the crew of his ship vouch for the story.

LONG A BRITISH POSSESSION

Island of Bermuda Colonized Eight Years Before the Mayflower. Sailed From England.

The island of Bermuda was discovered in 1515 by a Spaniard, Juan de Bermudez. Nearly 100 years later an English vessel with Virginia colonists was shipwrecked on the island, which had been known as the Isle of Devils because of the terrible storms on its coast, and had been shunned. Admiral Sir George Somers, leading the Virginians, died. His body was taken back to England, where the colonists told the wonders of the island. The Virginia company determined to colonize the islands, and had its charter amended to include islands within 300 leagues of Virginia. As a result, 70 colonists were sent out in 1612, eight years before the Mayflower sailed. Later the Virginians sold their rights to a Bermuda company, which so subverted the inhabitants that they formed a parliament and fought for their rights. Three branches of government were devised. Regulations were most severe, and penalties were of the most extreme nature.

Won His Honors Worthily.

First Sergeant Dan Daly, undoubtedly the best-known man in all the services, with the exception of Sergeant York of Argonne fame, has been placed on the inactive list of the Marine corps reserve. Daly won two medals of honor for valor in the Boxer rebellion and in the capture of Fort Riviere, in Haiti, and is said to be the only man in all the services who holds two medals of honor. In the world war his feats of exceptional bravery won for him the medal of honor and the croix de guerre from France and the distinguished service cross from General Pershing. His passing from the active list to accept a position with a prominent banking house in New York removes from the marines their most picturesque of the old school soldiers.

Widespread interest having been taken in a new artificial wool, an exhaustive investigation into the properties and merits of the fiber has been made by Prof. Eber Mudgett, head of the department of textile industries of the Bradford Technical college, and United States Consul A. S. Ingram of Bradford summarizes his conclusions about it as follows:

The new fiber is unsuitable for use in spinning yarn on the worsted principle, it being lacking in uniformity of diameter, strength and elasticity. When blended with pure wool the result is an uneven yarn.

Subduing the Heeky.

Reports of the campaign to subdue the heeky in Jamaica, conducted by the government and an expedition of the foundation of the heeky, are said to have been one of the largest work six days. The heeky, which were formerly they were a to only three. On account of the improved physical condition of the workers are the heeky to work in the cane fields in Cuba.

"Dead Men's Club."

The formation of a "Dead Men's Club" of the 2,000 ex-service men who, while living, are officially listed as killed in action is a probability, it was learned at national headquarters of the American legion. William Watt of Akron, O., one of the "casualties," who was gassed and left on the field in Picardy, has suggested the formation of such an organization.

Books the Best Friends.

When once the love of books has come into a man's life he can never be lonely, he can never be bored, he can never lose his interest in life, he can never be quite unhappy. Books are the friends that never fail, and the men and women that only live in books are the best and the most real friends of all. If I were to set down the names of the 20 friends who mean most to me, I should find that more than half of them lived in the novels of Dickens and Thackeray, Dumas and Debutet, Wells and Hardy, and Meredith. The happy life is not spent altogether in the world of streets and shops and offices. A large part of it must be lived in the world of imagination. And living with the imaginings of great writers, we, too, learn to dream and the happiest homes in the world are the castles in the air that we build for ourselves. They are, indeed, the only homes the foundations of which are unshakable rocks.—Sidney Park, in John O'London's Weekly.

Wampum

Indian money, or wampum, was made from a kind of thick, heavy sea shell, which the red men gathered, carefully split and ground in the shape of when straw, then cut in short lengths and drilled to form perfect beads. There were two kinds of wampum, white and purple. The latter was considered by far the more valuable. The first wampum was used only for ornaments, but as the demand grew strings of it were used for barter or exchange. King Philip of early New England fame is said to have had a splendid coat of "wampum" from which, when he needed money, it was a simple matter to cut a generous bit in exchange for whatever object he desired. Among the Algonquin and the Iroquois Indians beautiful belts of wampum beads were worn by the squares.

Monster South Sea Fish.

Manta is the name of a gigantic ray fish found among the South Sea islands. It is called the "winged devil" of the deep passes, and is seen only in the depths between the atolls. It is never fished for because it is worthless in commerce, or as food. Sometimes the manta weighs a ton, is 12 feet long, with huge wings, or fins, 20 feet across. It uses the fins to wave food into its mouth, which sometimes is two and a half feet wide. It has been known to lift the anchors of vessels in harbor by pushing against the chains, and has towed vessels a considerable distance. When harpooned this monster has dragged as many as 14 catamarans, or boats, without apparent weariness.

Syllables Have Various Meanings.

The simple syllables of spoken Chinese have many meanings, distinguished by the way in which they are pronounced. Thus, the syllable "chi," used for 165 different words and is pronounced in five different tones. All giving different meanings. The syllable "ho" means "to bow," in the most sharply ascending tone, in a more moderate rising inflection it may mean "river," "to harmonize," or "what." Spoken in a level tone, "ho" means "fire." With a moderately falling inflection, the word stands for "to congratulate" or "a calamity." In the fifth tone, sharply descending, it is used for "to drink," "fit" or "to be living."

Reform Wrought by Missionaries.

There is in the Fiji islands a fact which can only be described as the most pathetic in the world. It is made out of the piece of rock on which little children were buried before being eaten! The result produced by the missionaries on these islands, wrung from Charles Darwin this tribute: "They have abolished human sacrifices and the power of an idolatrous priesthood, and a system of profligacy unparalleled in any part of the world." Missionaries at work in the islands not many years back often saw the ovens where the cannibals baked their victims.—London Morning Post.

In the composition of a man's body there is enough iron to produce a spike large enough to hold his weight, and there is approximately 2,500 cubic feet of gas, oxygen, hydrogen and nitrogen, which would be worth nearly $450 for illuminating purposes. If you were to distill this man, the result would be nine and a half gallons of water. The body also contains two ounces of lime, twenty spoonfuls of salt, and considerable quantities of starch, chloride of potassium, magnesium, sulphur and hydrochloric acid.

Alaska a Good Investment.

Alaska has more than paid for itself with its gold. Its fisheries have produced more than its cost. Its seal are worth many times its purchase price. So are its forests. Its coal fields are of incalculable richness. Its deposits of tin are worth no one knows how much. There are fortunes in its reindeer herds. Its farm products represent not the least of its abundant production of wealth. It is a tourist's Mecca and a sportsman's paradise. The United States never made a better investment.

Politeness Expected.

One of the hardest things to do when you are out riding with a friend is to simulate the proper anxiety when he cranes his car around in a new direction and, after listening a minute, announces in a tragic voice that "this car has developed a new squeak since we started out."—Kansas City Star.

A California chemist is said to have discovered a process by which platinum is extracted from the ore which also yields gold and silver. The result is that one company which formerly worked the material for gold and silver alone, recovering $40 a ton of material, is now getting $2,400 a ton in gold, silver and platinum.

A Three-Century Wink.

Spica, which is placed a few degrees to the right of Mars, and has a distinctly bluish tinge, is so remote that its light takes three and a quarter centuries—225 years—to reach us. Thus the light which we now see issuing from the star left it towards the close of the reign of Queen Elizabeth.

Help for Ironing Day.

Do not discard old mats and carpets. Cover the mats with the best part of the carpet and make into a pad to stand on while ironing. This will be found very restful to the feet. One of these pads placed at the bottom of the cellar steps, on which to wipe the shoes, will help to keep the steps clean and thus save much labor.

Her Sad Farewell.

A very dignified man, whom I had known only a short while, came one evening to say good-by, as he was leaving on a long trip. When I ushered him into the parlor I discovered that my young brother had hung crepe on all the furniture.—Chicago Tribune.

A new ladder has no rounds, only two steps, one for each foot, which slip up and down in slots along the sides of the ladder. Ascent is made by dragging one foot after the other. Ratchets hold the steps in whatever position they are pressed.

High Wind Velocity.

The highest wind velocity ever observed below ten kilometers' altitude was 83 meters a second or 186 miles an hour, observed from a pilot balloon over Lansing, Mich., at a height of about four and a half miles, on Dec. 17, 1919.

Ancient Lighthouse.

The Pharos of Alexandria, one of the seven wonders of the world, and the prototype of modern lighthouses, cost Ptolemy Philadelphus, its builder, $1,000,000. Though it cast rays for 16 centuries, its site is now a matter of surmise.

Travels of the Potato.

It is believed that potatoes were first grown in South America and that the Spaniards took them back to Europe when they overran Peru. Potatoes were later introduced to Italy, France, England, Ireland and North America, in the order named.

BUTTONS FROM OUR RIVERS

Pearl Mussel Fisheries Are a Flourishing and Very Interesting Industry.

It should be remembered that in addition to their food value fishes are necessary in our rivers if we are to perpetuate the pearl button industry of the country, which employs some twenty thousand people and yields a product valued at more than $5,000,000.

When the young mussels, which are of microscopic size, are thrown off from the brood patches of their parents at the proper season, the larval mussels slowly drift to the bottom and perish in a few days' time unless they come in contact with a passing fish of suitable kind and succeed in making attachment. Once this attachment is made, the tissue of the fish grows over the little mussel, until it has undergone a remarkable change of form and structure; then it drops from the fish to commence its independent life at the bottom of the stream or lake.

It is a further fact that the young of particular kinds of mussels require the gills of particular kinds of fishes as nurseries. The black bass is host for several sorts of mussels, while the kippack, a kind of herring, is the only known host for the best of all mussels. As this last mentioned fish is far from being abundant in American rivers, it is plain that much care should be exercised in its maintenance.

The mussel fishery that supplies the fresh water pearl button industry is actively conducted in at least twenty states in the Mississippi river basin. The raw production of shells now has a value of about $1,000,000. The fresh water pearl button is now recognized as among the cheapest durable buttons that can be produced. The mussel beds have been rapidly depleted, chiefly because the fishermen in past years would retain only the very best, shuck and discard as worthless all shells that were of an inferior grade.

Necessary action in the way of government legislation to protect the mussel fisheries has been so long delayed that this unique and rather important industry is now sure to experience considerable difficulty in perpetuating itself.—Floyd W. Parsons, in the Saturday Evening Post.

WHERE BOARD IS NOW CHEAP

Girls in the Mission Schools in China Pay Only $18 Year for Their Meals.

It is refreshing in these days of high prices to learn that somewhere it is possible to get one's daily bread and its accompaniments at a low figure. The place is China—Tientsin. In the province of Shantung. There, in the mission school, a girl may have three meals a day for $18 a year.

The menu sounds strange to the school girl of the western world, but to the Chinese student it is highly satisfactory. Steamed corn bread and raw turnips that have been kept in brine and then chopped quite fine compose the regulation breakfast almost all the year. For dinner there is usually millet cooked dry like rice, and some hot vegetable. Twice a week the vegetable is cooked with fat pork instead of in bean oil as usual. Supper is the same as breakfast. Perhaps half a dozen times a year, however, they celebrate with more luxurious fare—Christian Science Monitor.

Make Four Speeches for One.

William Lyon Phelps, professor of English literature at Yale, declares he gets credit for only 25 per cent of the after-dinner speeches he actually makes. "Every time I accept an invitation to speak I really make four addresses. First, is the speech I prepare in advance. That is pretty good. Second, is the speech I really make. Third, is the speech I make on the way home, which is the best of all; and fourth, is the speech the newspapers next morning say I made, which bears no relation to any of the others."—Boston Globe.

Bert just came home from college and he had a "shadow" on his upper lip. He stopped to say "Hello" to his grandfather.

His grandfather looked him over and said: "Why, son, you look more like your mother every day."

"What makes you think so?" asked Bert.

"Why, because your father had a mustache that came down to his chin. Just look at that one of yours; you must take after your mother."—Indianapolis News.

Not Like a Lawyer.

Mirandy, of dusky hue, made a poor witness. In answer to every question put to her by the attorney she invariably replied, "I think so." The attorney finally became disgusted.

"Now look here," he warned. "I want you to cut out that thinking and answer questions. Now talk!"

"Yes, sah," quavered Mirandy.

"But, mistah, you see it's like dis. Ah ain't like you lawyers; ah can't talk without thinkin'."

"Well, professor," inquired the young musician, "how do my compositions please you?"

"Why, I think," responded the older man, "that they may perhaps be played when Mozart, Haydn, Mendelssohn and Meyerbeer have been forgotten."

"Really?" exclaimed the young musician in ecstasy.

"Certainly, but not till then," remarked the other.—Houston Post.

TREE WAS ONCE A HANDSPIKE

Old Cottonwood at Norris City, Ill. Has Interesting History—Was Planted by Boy in 1815.

At Norris City, Ill., there is a tree known as the "vaulting-pole cottonwood" that has an interesting history which is told by the American Forestry Magazine (Washington) as follows:

Hosea Pierce and a boy comrade returned from the war of 1812 to their homes, near Norris City, in the spring of 1815, and on January 8 of that year they had helped General Jackson whip the British in the Battle of New Orleans.

These boys both attended a log rolling on the old Pierce farm that spring, and as they were returning to the house after their day's work made a wager who could vault the furthest, using their cottonwood handspikes as vaulting poles. They both left their handspikes sticking in the soft earth where they had vaulted, and during the spring rains of 1815 they both took root and lived.

One of these trees died about ten years ago, but the other is still living and is 105 years old. This tree is about thirty feet in circumference, 175 feet high, with a very large hollow in the base of the tree which has been used as a housing for setting hens, a kennel for dogs and is always a fine playhouse for children.

CLOUDS ARE EARTH'S VEIL

If Seen From the Moon They Would Appear as Mere Film Separating the Earth.

The layer of cloud covering the earth is relatively very thin. If, for example, we could examine the earth from the moon we would doubtless see a veil of cloud covering little more than half the surface. At that distance the clouds would have no texture, the earth would appear swathed in an irregular sheet of formless vapor, through which, from time to time, the land and water areas could be seen.

The cloud cover of the earth is most attenuated; it may be compared to a film, for it is supposed to be less than one-eight-hundredth of the earth's diameter in vertical thickness.

The thinness of the earth's atmosphere may be more clearly comprehended if we realize that the relative thickness of the cloud layer on an eight-inch terrestrial globe would be about one-hundredth of an inch. Yet it is in this thin belt that clouds form, so that it is seen our weather is produced within limited confines.—The Ace.

The Old Red Barn Passes.

Boyhood days without a hayloft are like a play without a stage. The automobile has vanquished the big red barn, as the cement bottomed pool has the old swimming pool. The center of boyhood life has disappeared. Imagine the gang sneaking off from trusting parents on a hot afternoon and congregating in the shiny new garage. Where can they conceal the forbidden weapons, or the thumb-nailed yellow-back that mother thinks has long since fallen into the ash heap? Where do they hide to escape the starched shirt and stiff shoes and the party? Where are the circuses given? The train robberies planned? And the hair-raising stories repeated? The carefree scenes of boyhood life has disappeared. Innocence field to grow and expand in. If the joys of youth have vanished with the passing of the old red barn.—Summer Session Kansan.

Imposing on Hospitality.

In Alabama a negro team driver came home one night and found his wife highly agitated.

"Jeff," she said, "you know dat Asa Rogers' wife, Sallie, is dead. Ain't you goin' to be a pallbearer at de funeral?"

"No, I ain't," answered Jeff with unusual positiveness.

"You ain't! Well, wasn't you a pallbearer at de funeral of his second wife, Melissa?"

"So I wuz. But dat ain't—"

"En wuzn't you a pallbearer at de funeral of his first wife, Mandie? What you mean, you ain't goin' to act dis time?"

"Liza," he said, "suttinly, I wuz a pallbearer at dem funerals, en I done de best I could, but I'm tellin' you now I ain't acceptin' no mo' favors from nobody what I can't return."—London Tit-Bits.

Sheriff's Sale

By virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias Number 36 November Term, 1920 issued out of the Court of Common Pleas of Washington County and to me directed, on which inquisition and exemption are waived, there will be exposed at Public Sale at the Sheriff's Sales Room of Washington County Court House, Washington, Washington County, Pa., Saturday, the 4th day of December, 1920 at 11 o'clock a. m., of said day, the following described Real Estate, viz:

All the undivided interest of William Allen in that certain tract of land situate in East Bethlehem Township, Washington County, Pennsylvania, more fully described as follows:

That certain lot of ground known as the Sandy Plains Fair Grounds, adjoining lands of A. J. Nyswanger, Demas Crumrine, Joseph Teal, James Barnard and others, containing twenty (20 A) Acres, more or less.

Being the same lot of ground described in the Deed from Robert H. Hill, et ux, to James Emery and James Allen, dated May 13, 1892. James Allen died, seized of his interest in said land. By his will dated July 8, 1901, recorded in the Register's Office of Washington County, Pennsylvania, in Will Book, No. 18, Page 492, he directed his Executors therein named to sell the same. By Deed dated July 14, 1903 recorded in Deed Book, Vol. 314, Page 304, Recorder's Office of Washington County, Pennsylvania, said Executors sold said interest to William Allen.

Upon said land are erected the following described buildings: Grand Stand, frame; stables, frame; fencing about the track; several halls and stands. Upon the grounds are to be found: one drag, for use on the track; also three of four sulks.

Taken in execution as the property of J. Elliott Cook and William Allen at the suit of The Peoples Bank of California, Pennsylvania, for use of J. Elliott Cook.

"Gets-It" For Hard or Soft Corns

Satisfaction Guaranteed With This Corn Remover.

Common sense tells any body that the way to cure a corn is to remove it, cap and root—banish it entirely.

Don't Doctor Your Corns. Let "Gets-It" Remove Them—Painlessly! Quickly!

Not only hard corns and not only soft corns but every kind of corn surrenders to "Gets-It," the national corn remover. It takes weeks or months to grow a corn. It takes just a few seconds to stop its pain with two or three drops of "Gets-It." Quickly it loosens so you can peel it right off without the least twinge or hurt and it is gone!

"Gets-It," the never failing, guaranteed, money-back corn remover, costs but a trifle at any drug store. Mfg. by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago. Sold in Charleroi and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by F. J. John.

"WELL, OLD MAN, HOW ARE YOU?"

If Your Blood Is Rich and Red You Say, "Fine"

ENTHUSIASM IS RED-BLOODED

Try Pepto-Mangan if You Feel Weak
Look Pale

Sometimes you are almost down and out. You know you are not really sick, but you have a petered-out feeling. You eat little. You drag along. In the morning you look at your face in the mirror. You feel years older when you see how pale and haggard you are.

It is your blood. It needs red corpuscles. Instead of poking along half sick, why don't you try taking Pepto-Mangan the blood tonic? It has just the ingredients weak blood needs. With red blood your energy and enthusiasm return. You eat better. You tackle work and achieve.

Pepto-Mangan is widely and heartily endorsed by physicians. It is effective and easy to take. It is sold in both liquid and tablet form.
The medicinal properties are identical.

Sold at any drug store. But be sure to get the genuine Pepto-Mangan—"Gude's." Ask for it by the name and be sure the full name,
"Gude's Pepto-Mangan," is on the package.

TOWNSHIP HEALTH CONDITIONS INSPECTED

Dr. C. B. Wood of Monongahela,
State Medical Officer for Washington county, paid an official visit to Fallowfield township on Wednesday afternoon, to ascertain health conditions in that district. He found that the health officer had resigned the job, and that no one was looking after health affairs in the township.
He found many cases of measles, with prospects of the disease spreading unless some preventive means were taken. It was reported to him that one of the schools in the township had been closed because of the prevalence of the disease. Some measures will be taken to get the malady under control, and the duty of safeguarding the health put up to some of the township officials.

Iodine, the most important by-product of the nitrate industry, is extracted from the liquor which remains after the nitrate has been precipitated.
Although some sodium iodate is contained in practically all caliche, iodine is produced by only a portion of the nitrate companies, and the output of these companies is carefully regulated by a producers' trust, in order that the limited market may not be overstocked.

Peril in Iodine Mines.
Fumes of iodine have recently been used as a method of administering that drug preferable to the usual inhalation. It has been shown by experiments that fumes are absorbed through the skin and when inhaled are absorbed by the lungs, but it is shown also that inhalation is very dangerous even in small quantities, especially when there is any disease
of the respiratory passages.

Determining Height of Mountains.
The height of mountains is ascertained by barometric observation, showing the pressure of atmosphere at the lower and higher levels. An instrument called the mountain barometer is graded especially for this purpose. It can also be done with a leveling instrument and theodolite, but either way requires technical knowledge.

Casus Belli.
In an Irish case of a domestic riot involving much injury to person and property, a witness in the course of a vivid narrative swore as follows: "He says to me, 'Is that your father?' And I says to him, 'It is me father.' And he says, 'It is well you told me, for I thought he was an old gorilla,' and then the fight began, me lord."—From the Arizonian.

Her Real Love.
"I heard that pretty little woman say the other day that she was going to do her best to make her Billy's life perfectly happy. She must be very much in love with her husband."
"That wasn't her husband she was talking about; it was her pet poodle."

And the Audience Smiled.
A well-known statistician was giving some statements about a certain industry at a public dinner. "These are not my figures, ladies and gentlemen," he said. "They are the figures of a man who knows what he is talking about."

Shakespeare's Vocabulary.
Shakespeare had a vocabulary of more than 25,000 words. The average vocabulary of the educated person seldom exceeds 2,500 words, while that of the "uneducated" person often contains less than 800 words.

MANY REALTY TRANS- FERS IN CHARLEROI

According to a report from the County Commissioners, and sent to the borough Assessor there have been 250 real estate transfers in Charleroi for the first ten months of 1920. These changes are sent out by the Commissioners' office that local assessors may make the necessary changes on their books, and thus assess the taxes to the proper owners. So many changes in one year would indicate that the real-estate market has been quite active in Charleroi during the present year.

And Now We Have The MEMOIRS of COUNT SERGIUS WITTE

Minister of Finance and Premier of Russia Under Czar Nicholas II

The last year of the world war and the two years since the signing of the Armistice have unlocked a veritable flood of "revolutionary" and "revelatory" diaries and memoirs, each and all of which in some way or other aim to contribute their share to the general fund of knowledge, bearing directly or indirectly upon the beginnings of the greatest catastrophe of all history.

The MEMOIRS OF COUNT WITTE will take rank with the most illuminating of such source works. Here are chapters to startle the most apathetic and indifferent—forming a powerful fact-story vividly revealing a history of outrageous crime, treachery and intrigue. The general opinion of Russia's court and political life, never very favorable, is now substantially confirmed by Witte's Memoirs, which cover a period of more than 20 years' public service under the "Little Czar of the Russians."

Commencing Sunday, November 14

The Memoirs of Count Witte will be published in liberal installments in both the Sunday and Daily editions of

WHOLE WORLD IN HIS DEBT

Demise of General Gorgas Reminded One Well Called a "Soldier of Humanity."

The death in London of General Gorgas reminds one to whom had been given the unofficial but deserved title of "the world's physician," says the New York Times. His epoch-making work in Cuba and at Panama gave him fame in all civilized lands as a master of sanitation and of scientific method. His genius in finally tracing the yellow fever germ to its true carrier and in devising and developing the sure means of extirpating it brought about in his lifetime the fulfillment of his own prophecy that cases of yellow fever would become a medical rarity. It was inevitable that after his amazing and complete success in Cuba and at the Canal zone his skilled services should be sought by other governments.

In Guayaquil he demonstrated again his ability to rout yellow fever in one of its historic haunts, and in South Africa he brought his knowledge and devotion into play. No one in his time approached him in the number of victories which he won over tropical diseases. It was a dream of General Gorgas that the tropics might be made safe for the development of white civilization, and he did an immense deal to hasten its realization. The wide recognition which came to him while living and which is feelingly renewed now that he is gone, was less of his scientific attainments, great as they were, than of his achievements as a soldier of humanity.

EVER READY TO HELP BLIND

Americans Noted Everywhere for Their Generosity—Humorous Little Happening in Philadelphia.

In every nook and corner of the globe one visits, the natives do not fail to tell you of the generosity of the American. The native will give a beggar a two centavo or two-centime piece while an American will probably give 30 centavos or centimes. And Americans are not only generous, but ready to do a kind act.

Right in the city of Philadelphia a person often sees a man or woman helping a blind person across the street. Probably you would have done the helping if the other person had not been a few steps in front of you.

The other day a gentleman saw a blind man walking in a circle and felt sorry for him.

Walking promptly up the good Samaritan said: "Is there any way in which I can help you?"

Stopping in his tracks, the blind man replied: "Yes; you can take me to a restaurant and fill me up."—Philadelphia Record.

Charlemagne Relic to Reims.

The Reims treasure, so severely imperiled during the German bombardment, has been enriched by a precious jewel of the ninth, or maybe the eighth century, a generous gift of the Empress Eugenie, says Le Moniteur de la Bijouterie in an article by the "Jeweler's Circular." The matter in question is the reliquary of Charlemagne, a round capsule of gold encircled with precious stones, in the middle of which, made out of two hollowed out sapphires, a piece of the true cross is inclosed.

It was found on the neck of the great emperor and the clergy of Aix-la-Chapelle (where Charlemagne died and was buried in 814) gave it in 1804 to Napoleon I. What is less well known is that Napoleon III, preserved this magic talisman, which assured, he said, the empire to its holder, in his bed chamber at the Tuilleries, at the head of his bed.

Artistic Gem Recovered.

In June attention was called to the exhibition and subsequent sale of a picture catalogued as by Rembrandt entitled "Heracles and Democritus," the property of Capt. Aiston-Roberts-West, says the London Times. The picture was covered with such a thick coat of old varnish that English dealers were afraid to risk the chance of cleaning. Many good judges were convinced that it was a genuine Rembrandt, and one of these declared that it was "not only by Rembrandt, but one of his masterpieces." The picture was bought for 4,500 guineas ($25,000) by Mr. Goudstikker of Amsterdam. It has since been cleaned, and has been pronounced by an expert to be a splendid example of a Rembrandt about 1693.

In Japan there is said to be a very satisfactory substitute for milk, just as the nut margarine is a substitute for butter. Cows are very scarce in Japan and the people are using an artificial milk derived from the soy bean. The bean is first soaked and then boiled until the liquid turns white, when sugar and phosphate of potash are added. The boiling is resumed until the liquid has the appearance of ordinary condensed milk. When water is added soy milk is hardly to be distinguished from fresh cow's milk.

Not He.

Mr. J. came home from work to find Mrs. J. in an unusually good humor. "Oh, Jack," she began in her most honeyed tones, "I went shopping today and I found a perfect duck of a hat for only $37.50."

Mr. J. looked over the top of his paper. "Well," he returned dryly, "I'm not going to be a goose and buy it for 30!"

LICENSE CARDS SENT WITH LICENSE PLATES

Automobilists and others who secure license plates from the Automobile Division of the State Highway Department are warned by the Department that the registration certificate and license card are in the flap envelope on the face of the large envelope containing the plates. These cards constitute the address on the plate envelope.

It is absolutely impossible for any person, therefore to receive his license plates without the registration and license cards.

Complaints are continually reaching the State Highway Department that cards are not received with license plates. This is an impossibility. There could be no delivery were the cards omitted from the small flap envelope.

The State Highway Department announces that shipment of license plates for 1921 will begin November 15. At this time applications being received at the rate of 1,200 a day. The number will continue to increase, reaching a high water mark between Christmas and New Year's if the automobilists of the state run true to previous form.

The Department has announced that it will not guarantee the delivery of license plates prior to December 31 on applications filed later than December 24.

Applicants who desire an uninterrupted use of their machines will do well, therefore, to file their applications as early as possible.

NEW PRESIDENT FOR PITTSBURGH STEEL

A meeting of the board of directors of the Pittsburgh Steel company held at the company offices in Pittsburgh, October 25, Willis F. McCook was chosen president, vice John Bindley, who was made chairman of the Board of Directors. At the same meeting D. P. Bennett and Emil Winters were elected vice presidents.

The election of Mr. McCook to the presidency of the Pittsburgh Steel company necessitated his retirement from the presidency of the Pittsburgh Steel Products company. At a meeting of the Board of Directors of that company a few days later, Emil Winters was elected to the presidency.

J. G. Johnson, for a number of years auditor of the Pittsburgh Steel company, was elected to be assistant to the president. Bindley Reitz was made auditor of the same company, vice Mr. Johnson. All these advancements are said to be in line with good mill policy and to meet with open and general favor.

Motive Power Weak.

Lura Florence has been a great deal of talk about motive power being without power and the necessity of charging it. One day she was told to remove her rubbers and take them to her room. She failed to do this and later was asked why she had not done so. She replied: "I did not have power enough; I had to stop and charge up."

Showing All Sides

The Vetter Motor Car Company believe in showing all sides of a motor car before it is sold and in order to do this they have turned one of the Essex cars on its side and removed the crankcase, showing the inside workings of the engine.

This display is attracting a great deal of attention.

DONORA EXPECTING MILL EXTENSIONS

The announcement made a few days ago that the United States Steel Corporation expects to spend approximately about $100,000,000 in this district on the extensions and betterments of plants has caused Donora people to anticipate some extensive improvements to the mills at that place. For a number of years it has been said that an additional blast furnace with a capacity of 500 tons, was to be erected there, together with other mills that would cause a material increase in the way of industrial activities at that place. The recent acquisition of farm lands north of the borough line of Donora, and which is now being filled in along the river has made a splendid site for any additional mills that the Corporation might decide to erect at that point.

Mrs. A. G. Lewis, soloist, will give a continuous program at the Hays musical store in Monessen, this afternoon between 2 and 4, and this evening between 7 and 9. Giles orchestra of Pittsburgh will also appear in various numbers.
